

Rental Agreement

TastefulTitles.com (Provider) will provide:

- A digital file in PowerPoint format, comprising white-on-black titles in English; or such other format as agreed upon.
- A piano-vocal score, keyed to the titles, to facilitate synchronization of the titles with a live performance of the work.
- The right for Presenter to make temporary copies of both the digital file and pages from the score, and to make changes to them as necessary for the production.

Presenter will provide:

- An appropriate screen and projector (including any spare bulb or backup equipment deemed necessary) for showing the titles; or such other display equipment as needed for the agreed-upon format.
- A computer linked to the display, with appropriate software for feeding the titles slides to the display.
- A knowledgeable Operator, familiar with both the music and the equipment.

Presenter further agrees:

- To remit full agreed-upon rental price within ten days of final performance.
- To return Score and Disk to Provider within ten days of final performance.
- To remove any copies of the titles file from Presenter's equipment, and destroy any copies of the linked score.
- To respect Provider's intellectual-property rights regarding the translation and titles.
- To inform Provider of any problems or discrepancies encountered in using the titles.
- That if Provider's score is lost or damaged during the rental, presenter will pay a replacement fee determined by Provider, not to exceed the original rental price.
- That absence or failure of Presenter's equipment or operator will not affect Presenter's other responsibilities under this agreement.
